minuded, voted for the ordinance after hearing both sides in the debate. Alderman Alax Drescher, who introduced the ordinance for The Evening World, made an eloquent plea for its passage. He openly accused Alderman Quinn of unfairness in his methods of presenting data and with confusing the issue.

ALDERMEN LEAVE HORSES TO CRUEL

Defeat Ordinance to Save Injury and Death in Slippery Weather.

GIVE NO GOOD REASON

Hard-Hearted Horse Owners Opposed Measure That Humanity Prompted.

Bowing to the will of a handful of close-fisted horse owners in their districts, a majority of the Aldermen yesterday voted against an ordinance which would have put an end to the heartless cruelty to animals witnessed every winter on the streets of this city. The ordinance was defeated by a vote of 53 to 16, and this occurred after it was clearly shown by experts that the measure was not only humane but a hardship to no one. Not a sound argument was advanced by one of the fifty-three Aldermen as a reason for their votes.

The defeated ordinance simply provided that between Nov. 1 and April horses must be shod in a manner that would prevent slipping or tend to prevent slipping. No special device was advocated. All the horse owner was asked to do was to make an honest effort in the matter of showing humane treatment to dumb beasts in his care.

Every big concern in New York City came forward in favor of the ordinance. They argued that it did not affect them, anyway, because they were already using devices to prevent their animals from sprawling and falling on icy pavements. But it was pointed out by these same large horse owners that there were thousands of men in this city who needed the regulating the ordinance would put into effect. The class they referred to were heartless, penny wise and pound foolish horse owners, who were responsible for the countless exhibitions of cruelty witnessed everywhere during slippery weather.

When The Evening World asked Supt. F. Freel of the American S. P. C. A. to prepare the ordinance beaten yesterday, the horse owners opposed to the measure got busy with their Aldermen. Without attempting to deny the charges of cruelty to ani-deny the charges of crueity to animals made every winter the close-fisted owners began to lobby.

Alderman Quinn was one of the strongest opponents of the ordinance and was unmoved by the fact that the American S. P. C. A., the Humane Society, and the biggest horse owning concerns in the city favored the measure. Others who took sides with him were Aldermen Donnelly. with him were Aldermen Donnelly.
Moran and McKee. Quinn is from the Thirty-first District.
Alderman William T. Collins made a very logical plea for the passage of the ordinance. He said there wasn't enough criminal law to quickly unish cruel horse owners, and that he ordinance would prove a step in the right direction. Minority Leader Curran, who stated By following this suggestion any at the outset that he was open-oman can, in the privacy of her own minded, voted for the ordinance after

-Greenhut's Preparedness Sale-

In common with our hundreds and thousands of customers we reap the benefit of our far sightedness in anticipating present-day conditions in the world's markets.

Doubtless you are following our advertising day by day during these "Preparedness Sales." If you are not, you are missing the greatest bargain opportunities ever placed before the people of New York.

Where else, for instance, can you buy an excellent, stylish pair of Women's Pumps or Oxfords for $1.49? (You CAN buy them, but for $3.) Or a $5 FITTED TOP CHARMEUSE SILK PETTICOAT for $2.98? Or a 100-piece LIMOGES CHINA DINNER SET for $25, which represents a clear saving of $10? Or a CEDAR UTILITY CHEST, a very necessary article in the home just now, one which would ordinarily cost you $10, fer $6.75?

But what's the use of cataloguing Greenhut's Preparedness Sale bargains further? The story is told in single sentence: There isn't a department in the whole of this immense institution which doesn't reflect the spirit in which we have entered into this epoch-marking event. Our preparedness (we can't repeat it too often) is YOUR gain. Our forethought works to YOUR advantage; our immense buying facilities save YOU money.

In time you will see that we are right when we claim that you can buy everything you need today, at Greenhut's, for less than the manufacturers will charge next year. We are out to make customers' and so we don't hold back scarce merchandise. That's the important thing and it is in this sense that we urge you to READ OUR ADVERTISE-MENTS DAILY WITHOUT SKIPPING A LINE!
